An Introduction to First Timothy

Timothy, the Man
The name Timothy is the English form of the Greek Timotheus. The name originally meant “honoring God.”

Timothy was born in the city of Lystra of a Greek father and a Jewish mother. He was reared in the Jewish faith and was taught the Scriptures by his mother and grandmother from early childhood. (2 Tim. 3:15; 1:5)

The apostle Paul discovered him at Lystra (Acts 16:1-3) He joined Paul in his labors and shared in them throughout the rest of his life. He was with Paul in prison in Rome during his first imprisonment for his name appears in the heading of Colossians (1:1) and Philemon (v. 1), epistles of the apostle Paul which he wrote during that time. After Paul’s release, he evidently traveled with him as far as Ephesus and was left there to minister to the needs of the church. At the end of Paul’s life, he joined him again in Rome. (2 Tim. 4:11-21)

“He was evidently a trustworthy, if not forceful character. He gave the impression of immaturity, although he must have been about 30 years of age when Paul left him at Ephesus. The indication is that he was timid (2 Tim. 1:6-7), and that he had some difficulty with his health (1 Tim. 5:23).” (Roy Cogdill, The New Testament Book-by-Book, p. 102)

The Author of the Book

“All three books (The epistles to Timothy and Titus - GT) begin with the claim that the writer was Paul the apostle (I Tim. 1:1; cf. 2:7; II Tim. 1:1; Titus 1:1). The author’s analysis of his

The Date of the Book

“This letter was written after the close of the recorded history of the work of Paul in the Book of Acts. Luke closes the record of Acts with Paul still in prison at Rome, but leaves quite uncertain what happened to Paul in Rome. He tells us that Paul lived there two whole years in a state of semi-captivity, preaching the gospel without hindrance (Acts 28:30-31).” (Cogdill, 100)

“After Paul was acquitted by the Emperor and released from his first Roman imprisonment (A.D. 61), he resumed his missionary activities, accompanied by Timothy, Titus, Luke, and possibly some others. Contrary to his earlier thinking, he was able to return to Ephesus; there he left Timothy in charge while he moved on to Macedonia (I Tim. 1:3; cf. Acts 20:25, 37-38). Paul expected to rejoin Timothy at Ephesus but he was not sure about the time of his arrival (3:14; 4:13). Thinking that he might be delayed longer than he had expected, Paul thus wrote to Timothy to encourage and to instruct him in his many tasks...The book therefore was written from Macedonia about A.D. 62, although some have suggested either A.D. 63 or 64.” (Gromacki, 295)

Why This Book Was Written

“The occasion for writing this letter is clearly stated in First Timothy 3:14-15, ‘that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God.’ We need to remember that Timothy was at Ephesus; that the whole of Asia Minor was threatened with the various false doctrines of Gnosticism; that because of this, apostasy was impending, as Paul had warned the elders themselves at Ephesus in his farewell speech at Miletus (Acts 20:18-32). It is understandable, therefore, that Timothy, the young preacher who had been left under the responsibility of meeting this false doctrine and saving the Church from apostasy, needed further specific instruction and encouragement in order to accomplish his task. This is Paul’s reason for writing this Letter, which we are studying. The letter touches upon many things, all of which have to do with the manner in which ‘men are to conduct themselves in the house of God.’” (Cogdill, 102)

The Theme of the Book

“The underlying theme of the entire First Letter to Timothy is a warning against the failure of faith. These warnings are found in a number of passages.” (Cogdill, 102) (See 1:3, 4, 5, 7, 18-20; 4:1; 5:8, 11; 6:3-5, 10, 21)

“The second underlying thought pervading the First Letter to Timothy concerns the Church (the house of God - 3:15), and how men ought to conduct themselves in its work.” (Cogdill, 103) (See 2:1-8, 9-10, 11-15; 3:1-13; 4:1-5, 6; 5:3-16, 17-18, 19-20; 6:10, 17)

“A third general theme of the book especially applicable to all who preach the Gospel is found in First Timothy 4:16: ‘Take heed to thyself and to thy teaching.’” (Cogdill, 103) (See 4:6-16; 5:1ff.; 6:11ff)
